Educar a los hijos no es tarea fácil.

Los avances tecnológicos, los videojuegos, Internet, la telefonía móvil están muy presentes en el momento actual, donde es patente la ausencia de los padres, que trabajan durante todo el día, y donde la convivencia de los niños con personas ajenas al núcleo familiar comienza muy pronto. Las madres y los padres, juntos o separados, han de enfrentarse a diario a los retos de la educación hoy día: la generación del zapping, los comportamientos sexuales precoces, la prevención contra las drogas...

El reconocido psiquiatra Içami Tiba ofrece a los padres las claves necesarias para impedir que sus hijos los tiranicen, los ayuda a descubrir las consecuencias de una educación permisiva y los prepara ante posibles situaciones críticas: la llegada de un hermano, la hiperactividad, el desorden, los berrinches...

Quien ama educa es un diagnóstico revelador sobre la educación en el siglo XXI y aporta las herramientas necesarias para que padres y educadores aprendan a enfrentarse a las mentes de los niños con la intención de convertirlos en personas felices con una autoestima cuidada.

Definitely recommended to parents raising "new generation children." Without a doubt one of the best books I have read in years. It makes you see in perspective the different kind of parenting and consequences of raising children based on their parent's childhood. Quien Ama educa will help you find the tools to raise children with high self-esteem respecting others and living a happy life.

I really loved this book. The author talks about the different styles of mother/fathers and the kind of children they are raising based on their own childhood. Also teach us how to deal with the new generation children, in this computer world, where everything is so different than 10 years ago.

I highly recommend this book to new parents and also to those who may want to find new educational technics.
